Fross Zelnick associate Alejandra Camacho Luna was recently invited to give an in-person lecture on trademarks to students attending a double-master-degree program at the Universidad de Navarra during the students' visit to the NYC Campus of IESE Business School for International Legal Week. During her presentation, Alejandra shared her expertise in trademark law, covering topics such as types of trademarks, searches, and international filing and enforcement strategies.

Alejandra's insights shed light on the importance of trademarks and trademark law in today's global marketplace. Thank you to the Universidad de Navarra for providing this valuable opportunity for Alejandra to share her expertise and for their commitment to advancing legal education.
