Overview

“Every client has their own unique needs and faces distinct challenges. Fross Zelnick has cultivated the talent and expertise necessary to provide the creative solutions our clients need to protect their intellectual property. I am grateful to be a part of this accomplished firm.”

Courtney Shier’s litigation practice centers on protecting and enforcing her clients’ rights and interests in their intellectual property. Courtney’s broad-based litigation experience allows her to adapt to the specific and evolving challenges faced by each client and tailor her work to their individualized needs.

With litigation experience in federal and state court, Courtney assists clients with copyright, trademark, unfair competition, and related commercial matters across a variety of industries, including media and entertainment, fashion, food and beverage, and consumer products.

Prior to joining Fross Zelnick, Courtney was an associate in the Content, Media, and Entertainment litigation group at a leading New York law firm.
