

Darra Frino

Associate

212.813.8209

dfrino@fzllz.com

Overview

“I am intrigued by the balance and intersection of protecting innovative ideas and the legal boundaries of those ideas. My trademark practice allows me to counsel brand owners on what they can or should do – while also learning every day how these laws and decisions make a tangible impact on the reputation and commercial success of companies and public opinion.”

Darra Frino is an associate in our International practice. She counsels brands on international clearance, filing, prosecution, and maintenance of trademark portfolios.

Prior to joining Fross Zelnick, Darra was an associate at Fish & Richardson, where she worked on trademark prosecution, litigation, and transactional matters.

Education

The George Washington University Law School
(JD, 2020)

Cornell University (BS, 2017)

Admissions

Bar Admissions

New York

Focus

- Hospitality & Hotels
- Consumer Products
- Food & Beverage
- Fashion
- Sports

Services

- International
- Trademark

Associations

ChIPs

International Trademark Association (INTA)

Languages

English

Could AI require platforms to do more to prevent infringement? Word Trademark Review 2023

Software Copyrightability: Where We Are and What's to Come Intellectual Property & Technology Law Journal 2021