Overview

“From helping clients develop new marks to enforcing their rights in the marks they own around the world, every day brings a new challenge. That’s what makes the work so interesting.”

Longtime clients count on Sherri Duitz to manage their intellectual property assets throughout Europe, Latin America, Asia, and the Middle East. Focusing her practice on international trademarks, she advises on all matters relating to prosecution, including clearance, filing, and registration.

Sherri also develops policing and enforcement strategies to help clients protect their brands, and works with clients to expand product lines and achieve their business goals. Her clients span diverse industries, including pharmaceuticals, household appliances, clothing, personal care products, automotive products, and cosmetics.

Before joining Fross Zelnick, Sherri was an in-house lawyer at a major auction house and practiced litigation at a large New York City law firm.
